

W. RUTH KOZAK

AUTHOR'S BIO

W. Ruth Kozak is a Canadian travel journalist with a strong interest in history and archaeology. She is a frequent traveler and has lived several years in Greece. She instructs classes in travel journalism and creative writing for Vancouver School Board. A travel writer since 1982, her publications include the Vancouver Province, 50Plus, Senior Living, and various other newspapers and magazines, print in Canada, United States and United Kingdom. Ruth was a contributing writer for the APA Insight Guides: Vancouver and Environs, 1994. She has been published in Writer's Abroad anthology "Foreign Flavours" as well as two poetry anthologies. She also wrote The Vancouver Guide for Planet Eye Traveler. She currently writes for www.europeupclose, and edits and publishes the travel e-zine www.travelthruhistory.com.

SHADOW OF THE LION: BLOOD ON THE MOON is Ruth's first historical novel – OUT NOW!

Ruth is currently working on a new historical novel set in Celtic Britain and Greece, 4th century B.C.